Brief Mention

Sunday morning about one o'clock a dispatch was received at the B. & O. office in this city that train No. One. Captain THE gentle breezes from the creek last night were freighted with odorous oil refinery exhalations.

non-arrival of instructions from Capt.

In the evening, when the night dispatcher came on duty he noticed that No. 1 was behind time, and to expedite matters for this city, and gave as an instance is arbitrary course in the matter of the reduction of the grade on Seventeenth street, cutting sewers that the city had constructed, and in the peculiar constructed, and in the peculiar construction of the drains made by the company in certain localities, and also as to the injuries sustained by horses in crossing the track on Seventeenth street.

Thinking the above was a state of affairs that the city would not tamely submit to, a "tourist" from this paper thought be would ask some of the B. & O. officials what they meant by their arbitrary and aggressive "policy" toward the city, and why the proper respect was not shown the officials, especially the Ohairman of the Committee, on Streets, lalleys and Grades, and the City Surveyor. At the depot he encountered Capt. George M. Whitescarver, Superintendent, of the Hempfield, and a gentleman well acquainted with that road, and aiso with the alleged "irregularities" on Seventeenth street.

A reporter of this paper met Donn Piatt at the McLure House last night, and having been invited up to his room, went, and while there the following conversation on the Ohio political situation took place. The Colone's has been sending the summer at his Mac-a-cheek farm and recently has been canvassing certain sections in the interest of his brother, the "National" candidate for Governor. He spoke at Bellaire Saturday night and spent yesterday in this city. During the day many of our citizens called on him and were entertained by his unique manner of talking and original way of disposing of things:

"What is the situation in Ohio?"

"There, my Christian friend, you get me where I am weak. Anxious to find out myself, I asked my friend Robinson, Chairman of the Republican Committee at Columbus, and he told me, in a very loud voice, that they would carry Ohio for Charley Foster by about 40,000 majority; but privately he asked, in a confidential manner, 'what I thought of it,' and I discovered that Robinson, although one of the bravest men I ever knew, and with

"So far as that is concerned, 1 go to Ohio every summer, for society and a milk diet. When Congress adjourns all the agreeable people leave Washington, and since the Board of Health has proinitia diet. When Congress adjourns all the agreeable people leave Washington, and since the Board of Health has pro-hibted hogs wandering around the streets there is really no summer society in Washington. There are too few people left to divide the masma in the Kidwell bottoms. I have a little farm in the Macacheek valley—the place where God located the Garden of Eden and there I live. I only stay in Washington."

How did you get into this campaign? "I have been of the National persuasion for some years past, but have taken no active part in it, and would not now on account of my delicate condition of health, but the Greenbackers nominated my brother for Governor, and I felt toward him as Frank Plerce did to his brother Senator, when the Senator fell off the Goose Creek bridge one night, and wanted to know if Frank wasn't going to help him out?. I Frank wasn't going to help him out, but he would come in and stay with him, which tradition says he did. Joking aside, however, I believe the only question that will distress the political world for some time to come, is that which make. tion that will custress the political world for some time to come, is that which make, up the financial issue. Indeed the ques-tion of capital and labor is now vexing the cavilized world, and on this issue the "Nationals" are right. I was born in the the civilized world, and on this issue the "Nationals" are right. I was born in the Democratic party; rocked in a hickory sugar trough, and hurrahed for Jackson as soon as I was set on end, and, of course, my education and training were in the Bentonian School of hard money, free trade and something worse if we could' inagine it. Mirabeau or some other distinguished Bohemian has said, "that to be always right in we life must be content to be taught many things by people who know less about them than we do," Living on my Ohio farm Hearned some things about finances that quite astonished me. I discovered that a farmer, the man whose pursuit is the great underlying stratum of our solid prosperity took his crops to market once a year. During the year he was purchasing of merchants and mechanics, all that his farm and family needed. These things were charged against him, and when he sold his crops they were paid off. His profit was almost entirely in the increased value of his land. The effect of a panic is to destroy this system of trust or credit, as it is termed, and when the crash came there was a frantic effort to do a cash business. The merchant told the farmer So the same of the state of the street is just inished, and as course we could do nothing until the city had fixed the grade and reduced the street to that grade, and if you will notice, it is irregular on each side, now in many places, and even when we do comply with the ordinance, the same trouble that prevails now will be present then. I intend to reduce our track next week, and would have sooner had the city been ready.

Not the Man,—Major Rollyson, of Braxton county, is in the city, and resembles Speaker Moffatt very much, indeed has been taken for him by many since his arrival here. Saturday a man rushed up to him and said, "How are you Speaker, you are very strong down here for Governor, indeed, so strong that I wrote a letter to Faulkner advising him to draw off. Oh, you will have no trouble at all in pulling through." And before the mystified nolens-volens candidate could recover himself his eleverfriend was gone.

BROKE JAIL.—Chief of Police Sweeney received a dispatch from Steubenville yesterday to the effect that "Reddy" Curran, Bothwell and the Doyle burglars had broken jail during Saturday night, and to be on the lookout for them. but more especially in reference to their distributions and the engine, accumulate, was found upon him and he was very neat and clean.

His body was brought to this city and turned over to Zink & Co. for Interment.

It is impossible at this time to determine the responsibility of the accident, and the authorities are as silent as oysters on the subject until the matter is thoroughly in vestigated.

Since writing the above Capt. Devrices is in receipt of a telegram from the father of the boy, at Clarksburg, asking him to hold the body for him. The body was interred by the Mesars. Zink yesterday afternoon, and the father notified.
